

Periodic One Time Treatments

There are a wide variety of pests that fall into this category of service. These are situations that most homeowners have not or hardly ever have experienced in their home(s).

Having an on site inspection, positive I.D. of the pest, documented evaluation and valuable dialog with a professional are essential to resolving these types of pest problems.

The worst thing you can do is attempt to treat these complex situations yourself. A couple of common examples are:

- Have you ever opened up your dishwasher or recycling container in the kitchen and observed any abundance of ants foraging for starches and sugars in late winter – early spring?
- Periodically, home owners discover a Carpenter ant colony is taking over their kitchen. These are very intelligent, complex ants. Read our Carpenter Ant Fact Sheet and call THE SPIDERMEN. You would not want to have this pest treated improperly and scatter throughout your home, making your problem worse.

Fleas accidentally introduced into your home by a family pet or unknown animal in your attic or basement can be a traumatic experience.

These insects aggressively feed on all warm blooded food sources.

Careful client preparation and knowledgeable treatment techniques are essential to eliminating these pests. Read our Flea Pest Fact Sheet or call THE SPIDERMEN to resolve this painful problem.
